Referendum Likely On Tax For Marinette County Road Repairs

After completing regular business of their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 14 Marinette County Board had a long discussion on the possibility of a referendum sometime in 2024 asking electors to authorize a tax levy in excess of otherwise legal limits to finance some major construction/repair projects on the extensive county road system.

Supervisor Bob Holley chaired the meeting in the absence of County Board Chair John Guarisco.

While there were many concerns expressed about need for some long range budget planning, a majority of the supervisors present appeared to agree more money is needed to pay for major maintenance projects on the 330,000 mile Marinette County road system than the current tax levy limits allow.

They also informally agreed they would most likely support holding a referendum, but asked the Administrative Committee to schedule more discussion on that subject, and on the county budget process in General.

County Administrator John LeFebvre and Highway Commissioner Eric Burmeister have been discussing this need with county supervisors for well over a year at committee and County Board meetings. In addition to the possibility of a referendum, suggestions have included issuing long-term bonds, because debt payment levies are not restricted by the Wisconsin property tax levy limit laws.

Supervisors in general objected to paying interest if they don't have to.

The 2024 budget adopted last month includes a 77 cent per $1,000 debt retirement levy, up from the usual 25 cents per $1,000. That money will be used to make the upcoming bond payment, which will allow using the $4.3 million previously set aside for that purpose to pay for four major renovation projects on Marinette County highways in 2024. LeFebvre had explained that is possible for this year only, because sales tax proceeds and debt levy funds had been saved in a special account for the large bond payment due in 2024.

At their meeting on Thursday, Nov. 9, members of the Administrative Committee had discussed holding a referendum in April of 2024, and agreed to recommend a discussion by the full County Board at its Nov.

Supervisor Popp Did Not Oppose Bike Trail

A news report on budget discussions at the Oct. 31 meeting of Marinette County Board incorrectly attributed a comment made by Supervisor Connie Seefeldt in opposition to spending ARPA dollars for development of the Mountain Bike Trail near Goodman Park to Supervisor Bonnie Popp.

In May of 2022 County Board had approved spending $544,430 of ARPA funds for Phase 1 of plans and construction for the Mountain Bike Trail system and an additional $350,000 for trail development, which is expected to continue over the years. The first segment of trail opened in May of 2023.

The article should have stated: "During the discussion, Seefeldt very briefly mentioned the substantial amount of ARPA dollars the county had spent to construct the mountain bike trail near Goodman Park. Seefeldt had objected to that project at the time, and said she still thinks it should not have happened, but added, "Now that the money has been spent and the trail has been built, I will never speak of it again."

Popp said she had never objected to spending for the mountain bike trail, and in fact had supported it from the beginning. She added that the trail is an excellent tourist attraction, and tourism is essential for the Marinette County economy.

Peshtigo Riverside Cemetery To Start Fund Raiser For Projects

The Peshtigo Riverside Cemetery Association held their regular meeting on Monday, Nov. 13, starting with Steve Walters announcing that he talked to Electrician Frank Olson as to if he would be able to finish the electrical project or not.

Olson advised Walters that he will only need one day to finish the pole building electrical project and he promised Walters that he will finish the project as soon as he can.

Secretary Amber Polzin then introduced Joan Pace and Sue Cota of the Marinette Area Genealogy Group and advised they would speak in the Public Comment section later in the meeting about an interesting proposal for the Association.

In her Treasurers report, Nancy Holzberger stated, "Everything is as expected with the exception of being in the hole with the unexpected road project at $44,000, leaving us exceeding the income, but otherwise we are on budget if we exclude the road portion".

Sally Witak in her Personnel report said, "I want to work with the employees and go over the proposed job description to make sure it is acceptable to both parties". It was agreed that the committee will meet in December to discuss further to make sure both sides are on the same page.

Public Relations Director Polzin, reported that she sent out donation request letters from their mailing list to 66 different businesses in the area, outlining what the Association is trying to do, what their priorities are and asked how they may be able to help either monetarily or assisting with projects that need to be completed. Polzin will be doing followups with the businesses that received the letters. Polzin added, "It was also mentioned that there have been several good comments on how well the cemetery is looking now".

It was reported that there were a couple dead pines downed and a big stump from a tree blowing over. The Association decided to approve to have Bucksaw remove the debris from the trees and stump.

Sexton and Grounds Keeper, Wes Olsen advised that in the past two months, there have been six burials, five cremations and one full burial, along with five Grave sales and two Columbarium sales. The combined total for full burials for the year so far is 40 and we are right on track compared to other years.

Vice President Lois Walters asked Olson, "Do you have any problems with seasonal decorations not being removed"? Olson replied, "Every year we remove a lot of decor that was not removed within our deadline dates and we usually have about three trash cans full to toss out".

Olson also reported he is still having the same issues with the lawnmower over and over again with the bracket continuously breaking. The Manufacturer has recognized there is a problem and they did pay half of the cost for the most recent repair. Olson said, "We are like test dummies, They keep giving us parts and it doesn't fix the problem and still doesn't work".

There was then a lot of discussion as to if they continue to get it fixed and work with the manufacturer and if so, it needs to be put into the budget for next year. It was mentioned that they can't keep putting money into it when it is never fixed properly, decisions have to be made and we need to get tentative pricing or possibly trade the old mower in. Polzin then mentioned, "Do we then contact the company and by-pass the dealer"? It was then agreed to follow through with that plan, gather all the bills and issues that they encountered and submit it directly to the company.

After anxiously waiting, Members of the Marinette Genealogy Group Joan Pace and Sue Cota got the chance to present to the Association. The group started their mission with a Cemetery walk in 2017, which consists of a group of volunteers. This then gave them an opportunity to research Citizens that made a difference, had a positive impact in the community or have a fascinating story that can be shared. Pace said, "We really enjoyed doing the Peshtigo Historical events for the 150th Sesquicentennial events and we are always willing to help in any way we can in Marinette County. We are willing to make it a whole event including a cemetery walk, a sundae social or whatever ideas anyone may have".

Pace also asked if anyone knows of anyone that is buried in the cemetery that we can focus on and do a story on of those that have been forgotten but have a story to tell or any life stories that no-one heard about yet. The group has done several stories including one about Road Commissioner Andrew Eklund of whom has a stone dedicated to him on the corner of Hwy 64 and County D. They also did stories on the first Harbor Master and Mr. Dolan from Dolan Ave. in Peshtigo. The Genealogy Group has a team of people that do a lot of research to make sure all information is accurate and they can also dress in costume of the corresponding time period. All information is documented with sources listed. It was then approved for the group to go forward with plans for an event at the museum starting with a planning meeting on Monday, March 11, 2024.

Holzberger then discussed the budget announcing that the City of Peshtigo subsidy amount for the Cemetery was set at $51,000 and with the unfortunate recent water line break the cemetery put in a proposal of $56,000 to help pay part of the water line repairs. If we get that, the total projected budget will come in around $109,036. The $40,000 pipe line repair project is what is making the budget the way it is.

Another item needed to be accounted for in the budget is a new industrial type lawnmower. Holzberger said, "If we had $15,000 for the lawnmower and take out the pipes out of the budget, we still would need to find some kind of donations for the pipeline repairs. We either have to come up with the money or we can't do the pipelines".

In regards to the pipeline project, it was determined that Olson and Assistant Grounds Keeper Jim Felker should determine where the pipes, spigots, hoses, etc should be located, since they are the ones that are using them. A motion was made for the Facilities Committee to discuss a plan for 2024 that will also include a line item for a large equipment purchase of two middle of the road lawnmowers. That being said, the board then discussed that there is a definite need to do a major fundraising effort over the winter months. Any members of the board or any input from the public of possible fund raising ideas are appreciated. ## Oconto Historical Presents Untold Stories Potters Field

The Oconto County Historical Society will present its monthly Speaker Series Program at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 7, in the meeting room of the Beyer Home and Carriage House Museum, located at 915 Park Ave., Oconto. Pete Gabrielson, a member of the Oconto County Historical Society, will present the evening's program as he uncovers the diverse and captivating life stories of individuals laid to rest in Potter's Field at Oconto Evergreen Cemetery. Pete will share the amazing life stories of some of those individuals interred in Potter's Field to help give a deep understanding of the rich fabric of our local community's history.

In 2017, Pete began a fascinating journey to learn more about the lives of those buried in the unmarked graves in the Evergreen Cemetery.

Since then, with the help of many people, a lot of things have happened, including the creation of several web pages dedicated to the information about the Potter's Field and the people buried there and the establishment of the Oconto Evergreen Cemetery Potter's Field Memorial Plaza, which was dedicated in May 2023, as a touching tribute to these forgotten individuals. The ongoing research continues as people from all over the country occasionally contact Pete with previously unknown information about the individuals buried here.

Pete is a retired Oconto Unified School District Social Studies teacher and a performer in local theater, and OCHS cemetery walks "If Tombstones Could Talk". A fascination with family members who settled in the Oconto Bay Shore area and were inspired by stories he collected from the people who lived there led to the writing of an article featured in the Voyager magazine. Researching that article led Pete to discover Potter's Field in the Evergreen Cemetery.

The program is free of charge and open to the public and light refreshments will be served.

Suring Students Observed Veterans Day

The students and faculty at Suring School observed Veterans Day on Friday, Nov. 10 in the gym and as part of the ceremony, the elementary students sang three patriotic songs.

Since 2011, Glen and Letha Seering, on behalf of the Crooked Lake/Mountain Lions Club, have given a flag presentation to the third grade students at Suring and this year was no exception. After the gym celebration, Glen and Letha visited Kaitlyn Pasdo's classroom and gave a talk on the history and meaning of the American Flag from its beginning in 1777 until now, explaining the meaning of the stars and stripes and how to properly display the flag. They explain how to respect the flag during parades, the National Anthem at sporting events, the Pledge of Allegiance and how to dispose of a tattered flag. Glen and Letha showed the students how to salute the flag and place their hands over their hearts when reciting the Pledge of Allegiance. They selected two students from the class to help demonstrate how to properly fold the flag and how to correctly raise and lower it during half-staff.

It was not surprising to see that many of the students were quite familiar with the military salute because a majority of the students have had or currently have family or friends in the military. The Suring schools have a rich tradition of former students currently serving or who have served the country.

It is with pride that all the students in the Suring Schools start each day with the Pledge of Allegiance. As a reminder to the students of their visit, Seerings presented each student with a flag mounted on a small block of wood, along with a pamphlet about flag etiquette. Those items were supplied by Lion Terry Jorgenson and the Crooked Lake/Mountain Lions Club.

The Good Samaritans

BY ABRAHAM FRENCH, PEMBINE

Dick Glander lives in Beecher, Wisconsin. A few years ago at work, he told me this story. He was raised on a farm west of Rio Creek, which is in Kewaunee County. One summer as a teenager, while helping his dad bale hay, they decided to help a fellow farmer, who went to their church, they would bale his hay also, seeing he was laid up with an intestinal problem. Dick said, "In those days everybody helped everybody."

The farmer they would be helping lived about 2 miles away. They had just finished with their baling, so off to the ailing farmer's field they went. His dad Earl told Dick, "This is the thing to do, help other people; if we don't help him, he'll probably lose his farm. They had only been baling a few hours, when another farmer stopped and asked them what they were doing. They told him their neighbor's predicament, that he was way too sick to do any farm work and they were getting up his hay for him.

The other farmer looked at Dick and Earl and said, "Hey, I'll go get my equipment and help you guys." While he was getting his equipment, another farmer stopped and asked what they were doing. They told him and he ran to get his equipment to help.

Dick said by the end of the day, there were eight to ten people out there baling hay. The farmer that was sick eventually got better and was very thankful for all their help.

Jesus said in the book of Luke, (chapter 10), "Those that help other people in their time of need, are the ones that show mercy." So go help someone, while you've got the chance. God bless.

Blue Jays - Raucous, Colorful, and Interesting

BY CATHY CARNES

Now that the trees have shed their fall leaves and winter is on the way, I have a new appreciation for the Blue Jays that visit our feeders. They are a welcome splash of color as they fly boldly about, their feathers a flash of blues, blacks and white. Look closely and you will see a beautiful blue and black mosaic pattern on the wings along with a striking white wing bar. Their bellies are a bright white and they sport a cocky blue crest on top of their head. A rather wide black necklace encircles the head and a black streak extends from either side of the eye. Their bill is long, strong and straight.

The Blue Jay's common raucous call which to us sounds like "jay, jay, jay..." alerts us to his presence. According to the book, Jewels of Nature, Delightful Birds I Have Known, by Alan Haney (Haney) this bird has a wide range of calls. Some are quiet songs composed of gurgles, whines, clucks, and clicks probably used for communicating among themselves. Another is described as a "gate hinge" call that sounds like a gate swinging open on rusty hinges and used when a parent perceives a threat near their nest.

Some songs are loud and insistent. You may have heard their loud belligerent "Thief! Thief! Thief!" call when they are mobbing (swooping towards, chasing and sometimes striking) larger animals such as owls, squirrels, snakes or other perceived threats observes Haney. Blue Jays are great mimics as well and can learn to mimic the call of a Red-shouldered Hawk, a cat's meow, and human speech according to The Cornell Lab All About Birds website (AAB).

It's the year round residents that grace our yards all winter. According to AAB, Blue Jays are considered resident or short distance migrants. Their range extends from northern Saskatchewan (Canada) to southern Florida and from the east coast to the Rocky Mountains. But it is likely that less than 20 percent of jays migrate north to south and back across this range.

Haney notes that Blue Jays are more important than squirrels in spreading plants that produce nuts and seeds. Their expandable throat pouches along with mouth and beaks allow them to carry off 20 or more sunflower seeds or up to 5 acorns at a time. According to AAB, 6 birds with radio transmitters each cached (hid for later retrieval) 3,000-5,000 acorns in one autumn.

The nuts and seeds are cached in litter or soil, often in fields, and this, according to Haney, accounts for "The steady march of oaks or hickories into abandoned fields, far from the forestedge ...."

Blue Jays also eat insects, grains and dead and injured small vertebrates. They sometimes raid nests for eggs and nestlings, but research has shown this to compose only a small amount (1%) of their diet (AAB). We know they also like fruit as we watched in amazement one day as a jay carried off a large plum from one of our trees.

The jay's emotional well being is signaled by its crest, the higher the crest, the higher its aggression level (AAB). When a Blue Jay "squawks" its crest is almost always up - watch out!

An article, linked to the AAB website, by Lauren Smith explains an interesting behavior of the Blue Jay called "anting." With wings spread and tail tucked between its legs, the jay gently picks up an ant in its beak and rubs it on its feathers before eating it. Research as to why revealed that the bird is likely ridding the ants of a bitter tasting formic acid that the ant sprays behind it as a defense mechanism. Once the acid is rubbed off the jay can enjoy a more delectable meal.

Blue Jays may appear aggressive at your feeders; their size and raucous calls contributing to this perception. However there are several birds that can dominate the jays, including Red-bellied and Red-headed Woodpeckers, Common Grackles, Mourning Doves and Northern Cardinals (AAB). And then of course there are the squirrels that are all over our feeders scattering every bird looking for a meal.

Blue Jays are still common, but their populations have declined by about 0.6% per year with an estimated 27% cumulative decline between 1966 and 2019 according to the North American Breeding Bird Survey. One of the biggest threats to the species is predation by cats and dogs (AAB). We have the power to control this threat by keeping pets indoors or leashed when outdoors.

To attract Blue Jays to your yard, use a tray or hopper feeder, they work better than a hanging feeder (AAB). Provision it with peanut and sunflower seeds; add suet and you have a Blue Jay feast! It's great to see these brightly colored and vocal birds at our feeders; enjoy them throughout the year, especially this winter, when their bold colors can lift our spirits.

BDP Student Council Fundraiser For Future Fund

Student Council leaders at Beecher-Dunbar-Pembine High School completed a Penny Drive in October to raise money for the Future Fund children's saving account program established by the M&M Area Community Foundation. Their effort raised $670.17.

"The Foundation does so much for our community that we wanted to support your program," stated Colette Gilbert, Student Council Vice President.

Starting with the 2019-2020 school year, Kindergarten students across Marinette and Menominee Counties have a $50 deposit-only savings account started for them by the M&M Area Community Foundation. Then, each year until graduation, the Foundation adds more money to each student's account. Savings accounts may be used for any post-secondary education or training upon graduation from high school.

Crivitz, Town Stephenson May Share Some Service

Representatives of the Crivitz Village Board and Town of Stephenson Board are set to begin discussions on the possibility of sharing some municipal services.

At its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 8, the Town of Stephenson Board unanimously approved the idea of setting up a committee to discuss sharing services with the Village of Crivitz, and also approved Town Chair Mike Kudick's appointment of himself and Supervisors Andrew Rogers and Richard Belanger to represent the town on the joint committee.

When it met in October the Crivitz Village Board had approved formation of the committee, invited the town to share committee membership, and named Trustees Stew Swanson and Ginger Deschane to represent them. The town board was interested, and the new Joint Services Committee is expected to begin meeting in the near future. The possibility of shared fire protection services has been suggested in past discussions.

Marinette County Forest Administrator Ryan Bourassa was on hand for the Nov. 8 Stephenson Town Board meeting to discuss maintenance of Butler Rock Road, East Butler Rock Road, and West Butler Rock Road. Bourassa said he had taken some information to his committee and they were looking at possibly having the town transfer ownership of those roads to Marinette County.

Kudick asked about keeping the ATV trails open to connect with Oconto County trails. Ryan stated the county had no intention of blocking the connection to the Oconto County trail. He said it may be changed to an off the road trail, but they would keep it open to the best of their ability. He added that the clubs that use the trails would have to maintain them because Marinette County has no personnel available to do so.

Kudick said doing this transfer would result in a cost savings for the Town. After more discussion, board members decided to move forward. Ryan will discuss the exchange more with his committee and will contact either Chairman Kudick or Town Attorney Kim Coggins to see what steps need to be accomplished to make the plan work.

Town officials present for the meeting in addition to Kudick and Coggins were supervisors Jim Stradl, Belanger, Rogers and Jeff Franzmeier; Treasurer Shari Uhazi, Clerk Elaine Olson. There were nine members of the public on hand.

Olson told the board she had received updates from the DNR concerning Boat Landings 6 and 11. She had been told Boat Landing 6 should be open through the middle of November and DNR had also sent information on a Candle Light Hike in February.

Other correspondence included a complaint concerning East Butler Rock Road and a Thank You card from Scott Construction.

Department reports were given for Fire by Trustee Stradal, who is also Fire Chief; Canine by Mike Stueck, Code Enforcer by Diahann Graham, and Building Inspector by Kudick. No Public Works or Recycling reports were given.

An Operator's license to expire on June 30, 2025 was approved for Clark Foster, contingent on payment and a satisfactory background check.

During time for Public Comment Don Weinhart asked that the striping on Parkway Road be maintained.

Minutes of the Oct. 11 regular board meeting and hearing for a variance requested by Raymond P. Vania for a property located at N10459 Open Gate Trail were approved.

Treasurer Uhazie's financial report was accepted and bills were approved for payment.

From My Window

The Holiday And The Food

I can't think of another holiday that is so centered on specific foods as Thanksgiving. People get creative with Christmas meals, with some families having traditions as varied as lasagna, ham, or wild game; some follow a tradition of their own ethnic culture. Easter is often a ham, but the sides are freeform. Lots of variety also characterizes Independence day and Memorial day; and of course Halloween is just about the candy.

A classic Thanksgiving is turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes, green bean casserole, cranberries and pumpkin pie. Wild turkey was available on the first Thanksgiving. Dressing was a good way to use up dried bakery, while filling tummies. Cranberries would have been one of the few wild fruits available, and pumpkins are native to North America. So, it isn't surprising that some of the options tradition says were part of the first Thanksgiving have persevered for decades. (It's safe to assume green bean casserole was NOT on that initial menu.)

I read a fascinating history of pumpkin pie in our country written by Ellen Terrell. She says that traditional pumpkin pie was made of layers of sliced fried pumpkin, combined with sugar, spices and apple slices. By 1796 the typical recipe is more reminiscent of what we eat now, a custard-like filling in a pie with just a bottom crust, sometimes featuring one unusual ingredient - "a wine glass of brandy." I'm not sure about the brandy, but the mixing of sliced apples and pumpkin sounds intriguing to me. I'd be tempted to try that.

Green bean casserole was invented in 1955, by "surprise" the Campbell soup company. A woman named Dorcas Reilly, who was a home economist at the company, was asked to create a dish using the company's cream of mushroom soup. It appealed because it was simple, inexpensive and can be made ahead of time. It is based on green beans, plentiful and healthy, and mixes them with creamed soup and French fried onions.....ending up pretty high on the "unhealthy" scale due to sodium and fats. That said, it's awesome once a year, and has the endearing quality of being better left over than it was in the first place, at least in my opinion. The problem is often there isn't any of this favorite left over! Campbell estimated 30 percent of the mushroom soup it sells in the U.S. goes into this classic. Dorcas, you hit a home run.

Every year after Thanksgiving I wonder why I don't buy a turkey more often. It's relatively inexpensive, much healthier than red meat if prepared simply, and makes leftovers that can be turned into soup or my favorite, turkey pot pie. All that sliced meat comes in handy for deer hunter lunches, and it freezes for quick meals in the weeks to come. Turkey; it's not just for Thanksgiving!

One year, some people I know started to plan a different kind of Thanksgiving meal. They thought a change would be fun, and started brainstorming for either Asian or Mexican specialties at their family potluck. The matron of the family took a dim view of this deviation, although she didn't argue. She simply began handing out assignments: sweet potatoes, pumpkin pie, dressing...I found the story highly entertaining, and it's true, sometimes you shouldn't mess with a good thing.

Another funny memory is of a woman who decided to make "real" dressing, not the kind that comes in a box. She labored over an upscale version, with traditional dried fruit and bread cubes made from rich bakery breads. The feedback she got from her family? "We like Stovetop better." This woman said philosophically when telling me this story, "well, that's a whole lot easier for me anyway."

I wish you and yours a blessed Thanksgiving; no matter what the food is. At my house, it is mandatory to go around the table and say one thing you are grateful for. I used to get eyerolls, but not anymore. If you know someone who may be alone on Thanksgiving, please consider extending an invitation for them to join you, or deliver a heaping plate to them at home. At Thanksgiving there is always enough for one more, and believe me, there are lonely people all around us. You can be the reason someone else has something to be grateful for.

Country Cousin

Thanksgiving Season...

BY SHIRLEY PRUDHOMME

Country Cousin has a day off. This is a reprint of the column originally published on Nov. 23, 2000:

Hi Folks!

Ready for turkey and gravy, cranberries and coleslaw, jello and pumpkin pie? Or were you so busy with holiday preparations that you put off reading this until after the big feast?

Either way, it's still the season for Thanksgiving - time to give thanks for a multitude of blessings so plentiful that we often do not truly appreciate them. We may not all have everything we want, but who among us wants for anything we really need?

GIVE THANKS

For the vast majority of us, real hunger is an unknown sensation. We may not be able to afford lobster and crab legs or T-bones and mushrooms, but we can afford to eat. For the most part, food is plentiful and cheap. For most of those who have no money, free food, especially at Thanksgiving time, is available for the asking.

- Thanks to the farmers; to the scientists who invented machines, fertilizers and hybrid seeds; to the truckers who move things to market, to the grocers who stock their shelves, and Thanks to God, who created our fruitful land and gave us the will to work.

Your house or mine may not be the largest and loveliest in the neighborhood, some may be forced to live with friends or relatives, but few in TIMESland are without a home. We live in a time of prosperity in a land of plenty. The carpets may be ragged, the furniture may have seen better days, but who among us lacks a bed to sleep in or a roof and four walls for shelter from the cold? Seek help, and someone will be found to take you in. Need something by way of furnishings, and usually someone with too many will gladly donate.

- Thanks to charitable agencies and generous hearts and to the Lord who made us all. People in other parts of the world and even in other parts of our nation sometimes sleep in the cold and have nowhere to call home.

Our clothing may not be new, and may not be in the latest styles, but no one among us has to go naked, or even without a coat and hat. Excess garments are so plentiful that thoughtless people often just throw them away. Goodwill, the Salvation Army, Wausaukee Enterprises and St. Vincent DePaul are ready to receive good used garments and sell them cheaply or give them away if there is great need. People whose homes burn are usually outfitted before the ashes cool. In Crivitz school (and probably other schools) there is a large room dedicated to distribution of lost items that no one claimed. Good items, some practically new, are laundered, sorted and hung, ready and waiting to go home with some child who needs them.

Food, clothing, shelter. What else is essential? Love. Here some are truly needy. For those of us who are not, Thank You Lord, for friends and family. For those who take over when our burdens become too heavy. For hugs and smiles, and someone to share our laughter and dry our tears. For worthwhile work to do, someone to do it for, and the strength to do it. For peaceful repose at the end of day, for sweet dreams and warm blankets. For restful quiet at the end of life, and hope of Eternal Life beyond.

-Thank You, God.

So much to be thankful for. Shouldn't every day include some thanksgiving?

PASS THE SALT

Speaking of times of plenty, today salt is so plentiful and cheap that we sprinkle it on our sidewalks and spread it on our highways. Time was, salt was precious and costly, wrested from the bowels of the earth by slave labor or those who labored like slaves. Necessary for preservation of meats and vegetables when canning and freezing were unknown. Essential to health. Often in scarce supply in places distant from the salty oceans.

There is an old tradition that if you spill salt you must quickly pick up a pinch of it and toss it over your right shoulder or you were in for some bad luck. Those who study such things say it stems from the times when spilling salt was plenty of bad luck in itself, and any bad luck of course was caused by the Devil or one of his henchmen. Thus you had to toss some salt for appeasement before you put what was spilled back in its container.

Did you ever wonder what will happen if all the salt mines ever get played out? Of course by that time, we'll probably be needing fresh water so predictions are they will de-salt water from the seas and solve both problems at once.

Incidentally, sea salt is available in health food stores, and folks interested in natural diets urge its substitution for ordinary table salt. They say it contains a multitude of other minerals our bodies need to thrive, and that some of those neutralize the harm purified salt alone can do to our bodies.

Remember the old goiter pills they used to hand out in school? As kids, we loved those little malt-flavored treats. We in the Midwest, where iodine is not present in soil or drinking water, are often deficient in that nutrient, a condition which if left untreated can cause goiter and/or thyroid problems. Goiter pills were intended to correct this. Then there was a law passed requiring that iodine be added to table salt. But for a while they forgot to stop the goiter pills. Someone finally figured out kids might be getting too much iodine so that little daily treat was discontinued.

PUZZLE

Ever watch a man all dressed up, tight collar around his neck, necktie interfering if he tries to put his chin down, obviously uncomfortable? If men can run the world, why can't they stop wearing neckties? How intelligent is it to start the day by tying a noose around your neck?

We women must be getting smarter. We got out of tight corsets, which accounted for a lot of the swooning women used to do. Now we're out of garters and girdles, and pointy-toe shoes are things of the past. I hope! Of course, some of us replaced them with platform shoes high enough to get nosebleeds from the altitude, but now that too seems to have passed and most of our clothes are pretty sensible. We've come a long way, baby!

Incidentally, did you know why they put buttons on men's suit and coat sleeves in the first place? There's never anything to button them to. No, they put the buttons on to keep men in military uniforms from wiping their noses on their sleeves. Come to think of it, guess men have come a long way too.

STRANGE TASTES

Focus on feasting this week brings to mind the strange tastes we sometimes develop. People often get cravings for one food or another, and it appears animals do too.

Jasmine, the feline member of our household, has some very sweet and winning ways, and when she begs she does it very politely. We know she often prefers people food to commercial cat food, and I suppose some experts would say "Shame on you" to us for giving in to her. But what can you do when she focuses those big green eyes, pats gently on your hand with a soft paw, and gives out a tiny, "Mew"? Indulge, of course!

The other day I was eating a bologna salad sandwich, of all things, complete with pickle relish and mayonnaise. She wanted some. So I gave a bit to her, expecting her to sniff and walk away. She ended up eating half of that sandwich! Meanwhile, the cat food in her dish was mostly untouched. Now she's asking for sauerkraut.

Her very most favorite food is venison scraps, so I save some of the trimmings and freeze them in small Ziplock bags. She loves it, and considering her size isn't likely to go out stalking deer when our supply runs out. We never feed the dogs raw meat of any kind for a number of reasons, among them that we don't want to encourage a taste for meat on the hoof. But I do boil the large bones, fat and meat scraps for him in a huge kettle and add a bit of rice or oatmeal for meals he really loves. He only gets the largest leg bones as bones, but they make an excellent protein rich broth for him to savor. Saves quite a bit on dog food, and we like the animals to have special treats over the holidays too.

We have a pet cat, rabbit and dog, and they all play together and sometimes nap together. The rabbit has even been known to snack from the dog's dish, while the dog is there. Incidentally, she (the rabbit) prefers dog food to rabbit pellets, the cat would rather have dog food if she can't have people food, and the dog cleans up the cat's dish whenever he gets the chance, so it all works out.

CHILL THOSE RUBBER BANDS

Rubber bands often are cheaper if you buy them in bulk, but they do deteriorate with age. To make them last longer without losing their zing, keep them refrigerated.

COOKIN' TIME

If you're pretty well cooked out, but still have a hungry crew to feed and not enough leftovers to go around, try this totally easy cherry dessert. It's also tasty enough to make a Thanksgiving quality dessert for those who do not care for Pumpkin pie, or are on egg-restricted diets.

CHERRY DESSERT

1/4 cup soft butter
1 cup sugar, divided
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 cup of milk
1 can sour red cherries, 16 oz.

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Cream together 1/2 cup sugar, vanilla and butter until light and fluffy, then on slow speed mix in flour, baking powder and milk. Spread in greased 8" square pan. Drain the juice from the can of cherries and mix in the other half cup of sugar. Spread the cherries on top of the batter and then pour the juice over all. Bake for 55 minutes. Serve with whipped cream or ice cream if desired.

KENTUCKY DERBY EGGS

This is a stick to the ribs brunch dish for deer hunters who like to skip breakfast and come in for a hearty late brunch or early lunch, whichever you call it. Pretty good for everyone else too. Serve with raw veggies and fruit salad for a luncheon or supper meal, or toast and orange juice for breakfast, because it's really rich.

1/2 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter
1/3 cup flour
3 cups milk
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
6 hard cooked eggs, sliced
1 1/2 cups potato chips, crushed
10 slices bacon

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Put bacon in a 9X12 baking dish and put into the oven right away. It will start to cook and grease the pan at the same time. Brown the onion in the butter in a heavy frying pan, then stir in the milk all at once and stir constantly over high heat until it thickens and boils. Add cheese and stir until melted, but do not let it boil again. Take the bacon out of the dish and pour off excess grease. Layer half the cheese sauce, eggs and potato chips, and then repeat the layers. Put the bacon slices on top. Bake uncovered for 30 minutes.

WISCONSIN BEER CHEESE SPREAD

Great served with Packer games, poker games or just TV. Makes great use of raw veggies left from the Thanksgiving feast, or use as one of the appetizers on the feasting table. Use food processor to make this one. It's soft when first mixed but hardens when chilled. Allow time for it to come to room temperature before serving if you like it on the soft side.

20 ounces extra sharp grated cheddar cheese
1 clove garlic, grated
7 ounces of beer
1/8 teaspoon salt
Hot sauce to taste

Whir garlic in the food processor. Then add cheese, beer, salt and a few drops of hot sauce. Process until everything is well blended. Turn out into a pretty serving dish, or separate ones so each person can have their own. Serve with crackers, celery and carrot sticks or radish roses.

TURKEY ENCHILADAS

Leftover turkey usually isn't much of a problem at our house, there are so many things to do with it. Here is one that's easy, delicious and very different from the ordinary turkey dish. The original recipe uses cooked chicken, but we like this every bit as well.

1 can cream of chicken soup
2 cups diced cooked turkey
1/2 cup sour cream
1 can chopped green chilies
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
8 flour tortillas
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 cup shredded cheddar or Monterey jack cheese
2 teaspoons chili powder (optional)

Bless The Lord, Oh My Soul

Read the 100th Psalms
This Thanksgiving.
Give thanks and praise
To God Above.
For it is He alone
That has made us
May we ever....
Show forth His love.
For we are the sheep
Of His Pasture.
May we enter His courts
With Thanksgiving and Praise.
For He alone....
Is our salvation.
May we worship Him
All of our days.

Finding Gratitude in the Present and History of Thanksgiving

Dear Reader,

As we approach Thanksgiving, it's a perfect time to reflect on the history of this beloved holiday and remind ourselves of the importance of gratitude in our lives. Thanksgiving Day in America has a rich and meaningful past, steeped in tradition and a spirit of coming together.

The origins of Thanksgiving can be traced back to 1621 when the Pilgrims, who had recently arrived in Plymouth, Massachusetts, celebrated a bountiful harvest with the Wampanoag people. This gathering marked the first Thanksgiving feast, a symbol of unity and gratitude for the blessings of the land. Over the years, the observance of Thanksgiving evolved, becoming a national holiday in 1863 when President Abraham Lincoln proclaimed a day of "Thanksgiving and Praise to our beneficent Father who dwelleth in the Heavens."

Today, Thanksgiving is a time when families and friends gather around tables filled with a cornucopia of dishes. But it's not just about the delicious food. It's about acknowledging the "little things" that make our lives rich and meaningful.

In our fast-paced world, it's easy to overlook the everyday blessings.

Thanksgiving serves as a reminder to pause and reflect on the small joys that often go unnoticed. Whether it's a warm smile from a stranger, a beautiful sunset, or a heartfelt conversation, there is much to be thankful for if we open our hearts and minds to it.

Gratitude has the power to transform our lives. It shifts our focus from what we lack to what we have, promoting positivity and resilience. So this Thanksgiving, I encourage you to harken back to the spirit of that first celebration and find gratitude in your own life. Share your blessings with others, embrace the little moments, and let the warmth of thankfulness fill your heart.

As a publisher, I'm grateful for the opportunity to share stories, thoughts, and reflections with all of you. Thank you for being a part of our community. We wish you a wonderful and gratitude-filled Thanksgiving.

With warm regards,

How have prices changed from 2000 to 2023?

$1 in 2000 in buying power equals the buying power of $1.79 today meaning we lost about 3 cents each year on average. Inflation rates compare the year to the previous year of cost on products and services. The average inflation rate for 2000 was 3.36%. The rate for September was 3.7%. The lowest inflation rate for a 4-year presidential period was during the Obama presidency with one month almost 0% and leaving the Trump presidency with around a 1.5% rate and a strong economy to start with.

The Biden Presidency inherited a relatively low inflation rate largely due to the Covid pandemic, shuttering of businesses, and a business slump worldwide. Due to recovery legislation to restart the economy and avoid a serious depression, a lot of money was seeking a very limited supply in goods across the board largely caused by huge supply chain backorders and delivery issues.

This caused large price increases as is the natural result of limited supply and a good amount of spendable cash available. A little over a year ago, the monthly inflation rate peaked at 9.0% and dropped each month to around 3.4% now. Due to the Federal Reserve managing interest levels, and continued investment by the Biden administration, a recession is no longer a concern, and the economy is strong.

Thus, blaming President Biden for prices that are largely controlled by corporate and worldwide factors as Republicans are doing is wrong and political theater.

DEAR EDITOR,

I am writing because there was a major mistake in the Nov. 8 Peshigo Times Article titled "County Okays Slight Tax Levy Hike." (I am the Marinette County Board Supervisor for District 7 representing the West Central area of the county around High Falls Flowage & Twin Bridge.)

The Nov. 8 "County" article erroneously attributed to me a statement against the new mountain bike trail (Strong Falls Trail) near Goodman County Park. The statement was actually made by Supervisor Connie Seefeldt in District 16 during the Oct. 31st county board meeting.

I have deep respect and admiration for my friend and colleague Supervisor Seefeldt, but we disagree on this biking/hiking trail which I totally support. It is an incredible new asset for our county, for both residents and tourists. We need to develop recreational activities that will help keep our young adults from leaving our county and draw new people to our county. We also need to develop healthy activities for our teenagers as an alternate to negative ones.

I ask everyone to promote the stunning 11.5 mile Strong Falls Biking/Hiking Trail to your family and friends. The address is N13980 Harper Road, Athelstane, WI 54104.

That discussion was opened by Administrative Committee Chair Rick Polzin after all other County Board business for the day had been taken care of. Polzin said the choices are either bonding, referendum approval, or cut spending. Discussion included the possibility of allowing some of the lightly used paved county roads go back to gravel, and cutting other county services where possible.

Supervisor Mark Anderson agreed there needs to be a referendum for road work financing, "... but county spending elsewhere also needs to be cut." He added the referendum money should only be for reconstruction of roads, not routine highway maintenance, and continued, "There needs to be a plan. Let's get some numbers and look at the projections... Look at the whole county budget for two or three years at a time to get the big picture."

In response to questions, LeFebvre said due to time constraints, a referendum in April is feasible, and November would be too late for the 2025 budget, so an August referendum would probably be best. He said there is no limit to the amount electors can be asked to authorize in a referendum. As to budget cuts, he pointed out the county has an $81 million operating budget, but only $17 million of that comes from the property tax levy. "Cut as much as you want," he said, "but it only matters if the cuts are for items on which the local tax dollars are being spent." Many of the programs operated by the county are funded by state and federal grants and assistance programs. "The departments that are spending money from the local levy are probably not the ones you want to cut," he added.

Overall, LeFebvre admonished, "It's up to us...the people who spend the money...to be sure it gets spent wisely."

Supervisor Bonnie Popp agreed the county should have at least a 3-year plan for highway projects. The response from LeFebvre and Burmeister was that it is hard to know in advance because they apply for state grants, and never know which projects will be funded. The roads that the county feels have the most critical needs are not necessarily the ones that the state is willing to pay for. It was noted with the 330,000 miles of county roads, they need to do 10 miles of reconstruction each year to keep up a 30-year rotation.

In addition to the problems getting state approval for a referendum ballot in time for the April elections, LeFebvre felt this might not be the best time for a referendum. The property tax bills that just went out show an increase to 77 cents per $1,000 for debt levy, up from 12 cents in 2023 and 35 cents last year, and state and federal income taxes are due in April.

Supervisor Trygve Rhude felt the whole referendum issue should go back to the Administrative Committee for another look, and agreed with Anderson and others that they should consider future budgets over the long term. "We need to see where we're going."

LeFebvre said it is nearly impossible to put together a realistic two year operating budget due to all the variables, but they can do projections of the capital improvements program. He added that unknown problems do arise, for example the late snow and resulting soft road base last spring that caused a snow plow to peel more than two miles of asphalt off one of the county roads.

Supervisor Stan Gruszynski declared the whole County Board needs to know more about the budget and department needs. "I don't believe there is anybody in the room that doesn't want to do the responsible thing, but we need more information to make the right decisions," Gruszynski declared. He suggested holding a special County Board meeting were department heads can speak directly to Supervisors, "...so we know more about what John (LeFebvre) is hearing from them as County Administrator."

Polzin asked for a show of hands to see if Supervisors support doing something about a referendum to raise the significant amount of money needed for roads. The show of hands indicated they did, and Polzin said the Administrative Committee will go back and do some more work on a possible referendum, if not in April, then possibly in August. The next Administrative Committee meeting is scheduled for 9 a.m. on Thursday, Dec. 14.

Asked if supervisors not on the committee could participate in that meeting, Polzin said everybody is welcome to attend, and he will open the floor for their questions and comments. He hopes everyone involved will try to get as much information as possible and share it with others.

"The more we can go to people with facts and specifics, the more likely they are to approve a referendum levy," Polzin added.

To further questions, LeFebvre said state aid for county roads is a little over $4 per mile each year, for the entire highway program. The county levy makes up the difference, and over the years the levy has not kept up with inflation. He said to stay current with expenses they would need nearly a million additional property tax dollars each year, but the state levy limits have allowed the levy to go up only $200,000, which is why highway upkeep has fallen behind.

LeFebvre said County Board can save money and reduce spending by cutting services, but added that the services cut must be among those supported by the tax levy, not other programs, or it doesn't matter.

Anderson, who is a former County Board chair, recalled that county highway upkeep had started falling behind 10 to 12 years ago, before LeFebvre was administrator, but repeated his contention that the board, and/or LeFebvre, needs to come with some sort of two to three year spending plan. He suggested they also may have to consider turning some lightly used county roads back to gravel when their asphalt surfaces deteriorate.

They started with reports by Sydney Swan, Assistant Director of Bay Lake Regional Planning Commission, on help they can provide for grant writing, economic development and planning.

Goodman Supervisor Bill Stankevich said Bay Lakes assistance had made it possible for them to rebuild the town park after it was flooded last year. "The children are probably going to cry (with joy) when they see how nice that park is now!" he declared.

Amy Commers, Director of the Marinette County Consolidated Library System that operates public libraries at the Stephenson Library in Marinette and six other locations in the county, gave a report showing how much library use has been growing. She said in addition to wireless connections, computer use and videos and other items that are available, library users in the county checked out 136,900 printed items during the past year, and overall there was a 32.8 percent participation increase. She handed out a booklet listing activities coming up in the next few months at the various libraries.

Asked if the county libraries have any filters to prevent patrons from viewing child porn on their computers, Commers said they do not, but if any staff members see someone viewing unsuitable material in any of the libraries they can and do kick them out.

LeFebvre said because the last County Board meeting had been held just two weeks previously, he had no monthly report, but wished everyone a happy Thanksgiving, and a safe season if they are deer hunting.

Closing the Courthouse, Judicial Center and Resource Center to the public between 2 and 4:30 p.m. on Feb. 29 to allow for staff to participate in an active shooter training live scenario was approved by unanimous vote without discussion, as was LeFebvre's appointment of Richard Pier to the Veterans Service Commission for a term ending on Nov. 30, 2026, and naming County Conservationist Shari Denowski to represent Marinette County on the Lumberjack RC&D FLOW AIS Program Committee.

As recommended by the Public Services Committee the board approved setting up a special fund to handle payments from the Federal Government's Equitable Sharing Program in which proceeds from sale of vehicles and other items seized in connection with drug forfeiture laws are shared with the counties involved to be spent on enforcement efforts and equipment by the Sheriff's Department and other law enforcement agencies and then reimbursed by the Department of Justice. In Marinette County the fund is administered through the Sheriff Department, and approved expenditures are reimbursed from the program. County Board also approved appropriating $5,000 of startup money, to be replenished whenever the fund balance falls below $2,500.

The board also approved applying for a drug trafficking response grant which could include up to $50,000 in equipment and other items; a minor utility easement for WPS across county owned land in the Town of Silver Cliff at a cost of 10 cents per foot, for a total of $100, and some changes in the Town of Niagara zoning ordinance to permit a kennel as a conditional use.

Brief discussion preceded approval of an $80,735 contract with Kapur, Inc. for an extensive re m o n u m e n t a t i o n surveying project. To comments on the extremely low price compared to the other bids, LeFebvre said Kapur is a reputable engineering firm and the survey project is good fill-in work for them. He said they have done previous jobs for Marinette County and there were never any complaints.

Without dissent the board approved a change in rules for the Marinette County Traffic Safety Commission allowing representatives of the various agencies involved to designate a representative when they are unable to attend. Committee meetings are frequently cancelled due to lack of a quorum.

The Commission still includes thirteen members, but now some of the agency representatives can name a designee to report and vote in their place. Members are:

- The county highway commissioner or his/her designee;
- The chief county traffic law enforcement officer or his/her designee;
- The county highway safety coordinator;
- Three representatives designated by the county; board - one from each of the disciplines of education, medicine and law or the representative's designee;
- Three representatives involved in law e n f o r c e m e n t , highways and highway safety designated by the Secretary of Transportation or the representative's designee;
- One Supervisor from Infrastructure Committee, and three at large members designated by the County Administrator.

All members, except County Board Supervisors and other County staff, are to serve on the commission without compensation from Marinette County.

Allowing members to designate a substitute had been requested by Lt. Chris Lesperance, who represents the County Sheriff Department, and serves as chair of the Traffic Safety Committee. LeFebvre commented they have been facing problems getting a quorum.

Performance Services Provides Progress Of School Construction

The Peshtigo School Board meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 8 started with a construction progress update and status of the building project bids from PSI (Professional Services Inc.). Jerry Rolfson, Principal Architect, Director of Architecture, Lauren Wanner, Business Development Manager, Jason Raiten, Senior Architect and Mike Boettcher, Senior Project Manager were present to provide an overview and progress of the school remodel/build project. The team discussed the site, floor plan and renderings of the project.

Boettcher stated that the previous bid packages were approved. There were 40 packages 40 of them being mechanical packages. We received our goal of receiving all our main packages to get the prices down. Changes can still be made with the bidders as long as they are working within their restraints.

PSI will continue to have dialogues with the manufacturers and suppliers but are still looking at value analysis to be able to get the products and still be able to save money.

There were no changes of the site plan, but some adjustments were made for cost savings. Some of the changes include reducing the size of the locker rooms, retaining more walls without reconfiguring, making use of existing walls but still expanding and using current plumbing hookups, rather than rebuilding. Even with the changes, the cost won't change. Once the price is locked in, PSI won't go back to the District for any more money.

Architecture will mimic the structural design of the building and they hope to restore the old beams with a stained look to keep the original look of the beams. There is a lot of good progress being made on site. PSI is working with partners that are really good advocates of the project.

Board Member Mike Fifarek asked how the students are doing with all of these changes and the commotion?

Principal Chad Sodini replied, "Students are resilient. PSI is working with us and when there is too much noise, they work with us by adjusting the projects they are working on. There are a little bit of noise issues going on but not terrible and the students have adjusted well". Also, Board Member Josh Seefeldt added that there is a need for safe pickup and drop off for sports and athletic events.

Superintendent Patrick Rau interjected stating, "The School District has a fund balance for the food service and reimbursement for the free meals program during Covid and we can use up to $450,000 to offset the cost of the kitchen equipment and remodeling, but the State and Federal guidelines need to be followed.

After PSI's presentation of the progress and status of the building project bids, the board unanimously approved the bids. The Board then moved forward with discussion of the rest of the agenda items, including Board approvals for the resignation of Kyle Cheney as Golf Coach and the hiring of Adrienne Olsen as Middle/High School Secretary.

Since the October meeting there were three donations received including $493.18 from the Eagle Express Spirit Pump, $660 from Bellin Health to benefit the Athletics Program and $2,000 from the Giving Fund to benefit the SEED (Students Eat Every Day) program.

Before the Board approved the 2023-2024 Evacuation Safety Drill Evaluation reports, Superintendent Patrick Rau mentioned that the reports were submitted and the drill went well, but we will review how we can improve things for the future in certain areas of the evacuation drill.

Larry Schultz, Technology Director announced that the Firewall will be at the end of its life in March 2024 and needs to be replaced to maintain security. He received two bids of which Heartland Business Systems was his choice to go with. It was then approved by the board to go forward with Heartlands bid. Another bid project that was approved was for replacement of the Middle/High School Gym floor. The approved bid was from Baseman Brothers. The first reading of policies from #0142.1 through #8913 were approved by the board.

In his Administrator report, Rau announced that everyone is invited to attend the Veterans Day Assembly and Breakfast on Friday Nov. 17.

In closing, it was noted that the agenda items for the December School Board meeting, so far, includes the school 2024-25 calendar, closed session for evaluation and the second reading of Policies.

and gold whatever that you can come up with. Well, we'll see those from all the other teams that are here — Eagles and the crazy Raider fans with all their spikes and whatnot. You see them all here walking around, and the cool thing is there's no game; so you know, everybody gets along great and has a good time."

Toll said that during the Kansas City-host NFL Draft, they noticed that the environment was very family-friendly.

"There's are a lot of families that are here; there's a lot of kids that are

New Business To Possibly Open On East Side Of Peshtigo

The City of Peshtigo Plan Commission met on Wednesday, Nov. 8 to discuss and/or consider action upon adding restaurants, cafes, taverns and bars as permitted uses in the B-3 Highway Commercial District Zone.

Present at the meeting were committee members: Matt Decur, Kathy Crabtree, Karen Plouff, Doug Vanwinkle, Marquita Limberg and Allen England along with Mayor Cathi Malke, Clerk/Treasurer Tammy Kasal and Presenter, Stephanie Jasch

Jasch spoke on her behalf of what her plans are of purchasing and converting the former Auto Sales building and property currently owned by Charles and Karen Leinen into a bar, restaurant and recreation area. One section of the building will be an area for kids to gather and play their X-box games, Video games and possibly Arcade games, giving kids a place to gather and socialize. The other section would be separate as a bar/restaurant with a place for small gatherings.

Jasch indicated it would be the perfect building for what she wants to use it for. Her intentions are to serve basket foods and appetizers. It is a good end of town to have that kind of facility with nothing like it in the area. They would also offer delivery from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Jasch stated she has seven employees lined up with three people on staff for during the week hours and four or five on weekends, with waitstaff and a cook. For now she would be purchasing the existing building with the opportunity to possibly purchase more property for future expansion.

There were some concerns about a bar and a children's area in the same building. Jasch stated, "The two buildings will be separated by a wall and be a separate entrance than the bar area". There were several conversations in regards to if there is a need for a conditional use permit change, ordinance change or if it is a zoning issue.

Plouff questioned, "Until we get the zoning figured out, should we do this as a conditional permit until it is straightened out"? Decur was concerned that this might open up others grandfathered in, to line up at the door to get conditional use permits. Plouff added that they should first do as a conditional use permit and clean it up of what the uses are and what they should be.

In final discussions, it was recommended to bring to Council as a conditional use and if approved, Jasch would then have to apply for a conditional use permit. It then would go back to the Plan Commission for possible approval and then back to Council again. In the meantime, Jasch can start the application process. If it is approved, then a conditional use will be added to zoning and the conditional use has to go to the Plan Commission as a bar/restaurant and the plans need to be more specific showing more detailed plans, parking and exact uses. A notice will also have to be sent out two weeks prior before the meeting, noticing all landowners within 100 feet of the facility.

The next Plan Commission meeting will be held Monday, Dec. 4 at 1 p.m. to continue working on the Comprehensive Plan for the City with an expectation of a two to three hour meeting.

here as well. They do their 'Play 360' — the NFL's kind of youth program — youth sports and getting kids active. So, there'll be a whole area where they'll be practicing or showing off their skills with kicking and punting and passing. So, there's some of those activities that are taking place. It really is a great time and you know, it's not a game day, kind of atmosphere. It's almost more like going to the fair, only it's all football-related," he said.

Toll said that after attending the Kansas City event, they were told that not a single arrest was made.

"125,000 people, not one arrest," he added.

Toll said that he was excited to be a part of bringing the three-day event to Wisconsin for others to enjoy.

"I'm really excited for our community to be able to experience. It's free, so anyone and everyone can go and what an awesome opportunity for the people in our community to be able to go and see it —the thing that we've watched on TV every year — it's cool that we're able to do that for the community.

Toll said that organizers are also working on developing a unique experience for the players coming into the area.

"One of the things that we will work on is developing experiences. So as the players come in, and they have some free time here and there, what are some experiences unique to our community? So, sport fishing, perhaps, on Lake Michigan; curling is one of the things that we thought would be kind of fun. You know a lot of them probably haven't curled before growing up in the southern part of the country," he explained.

A three-day commercial

"Then, from a tourism perspective, we're really excited that it's a three-day commercial," Toll added.

This also gives the city an opportunity to call itself a "Draft City."

"A lot of times when say a big sports tournament is thinking about coming to Green Bay, and we're being considered against other cities. It's like, 'Well, did you know we're hosting the draft in 2025.' 'You are?' You know, suddenly, 'Well, if you can host that. You probably do a great job with my tournament,' he explained.

"It really becomes a great sales tool and draws attention to your destination.

"There are some bragging rights that go with it that really helps you sell the community for other business, so we're excited about that."

In addition to those in attendance, organizers project that 70 million people will be viewing the draft on television that Thursday night.

"Even with a massive budget, you can't get that kind of exposure. Certainly, with a community our size and the budget that we have for sales and marketing, I mean, there's just no possible way you'd get that kind of exposure," Toll stated.

Dollar General Agrees To Pay $850,000 For Sale Violations

In a Consent Judgement agreement signed by Marinette County Circuit Court Judge James A. Morrison on Monday, Nov. 13, and approved by District Attorney DeShea Morrow, as prosecuting attorney for the state, Dollar General Corporation, headquartered in Goodlettsville, TN, agreed to pay fees and penalties totaling $850,006.11 to Marinette County. The out of court settlement includes $551,951.40 in civil forfeitures and $298,054.71 in statutory charges and fees.

The Dollar General Corporation operates several stores in various Marinette County communities, but the only one specifically mentioned in the complaint is located at 820 Roosevelt Road in the City of Niagara.

Charges against the national retail giant were filed by the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP)'s Trade and Consumer Protection Division after an investigation that ran from Jan. 30 to Feb. 10, 2023, and are the same alleged Wisconsin Statute violations that had been the subject of a Consent Order settlement signed by Dollar General on March 6, 2019 in response to charges filed by DATCP in Racine County earlier that year.

The Marinette County consent agreement stipulates before trial that settlement is for violation of two statutes - one for falsely representing a purchase price (662 alleged violations), and the other for failure to display a refund information sign near a price scanner (53 alleged violations).

The complaint states that Dollar General operates at least 238 stores in Wisconsin and had consented to Marinette County Circuit Court exercising personal jurisdiction over this matter, and to entry of the proposed consent judgment without filing of a summons.

The document says venue is proper in Marinette County because some of the alleged violations occurred in Marinette County, where Dollar General does substantial business, and the parties want to resolve all potential claims with a single filing.

The complaint handled in Marinette County this year describes the Racine County settlement of identical alleged violations in 2019, and then goes on to state that from Jan. 30 through Feb. 9, 2023, DATCP conducted an initial price accuracy inspection at each of the 238 Dollar General stores in Wisconsin, including the one located at 820 Roosevelt Road in Niagara, and during those inspections, found 579 items that recorded a higher price than the posted or advertised price when they were electronically scanned at the point of sale, and also found that 45 of those stores did not conspicuously display a sign explaining a purchaser's right to receive a refund of the price difference.

From Jan. 31 through Feb. 10 of 2023 DATCP did a follow-up inspection of each of the 145 Dollar General Stores that had failed their initial inspections, and found that 83 of the previously identified problem items were still posted or advertised at a lower price, including at the Niagara store, and eight of the stores were still not displaying the mandatory refund signs.

Of the total $850,000 to be paid by Dollar

General in settlement of the case, $551,951.40 is in penalties for the 662 alleged violations of the posted price statute and 53 alleged violations of failure to post the mandatory refund information signs.

The $298,054.71 in statutory surcharges and fees includes $143,507.36 in civil forfeitures, $137,987.85 as a consumer protection surcharge, $7,150 as a jail surcharge, $9,295 as a crime lab and drug law enforcement surcharge, $25 forfeiture action fees, $68 court support services surcharge, and $21.50 for the justice information system surcharge.

The agreement states that Dollar General does not admit that it has violated any statutes, rules or laws of Wisconsin, and that the stipulation cannot be used by another party in any other action now pending or started later, and eliminates any further DATCP charges for violations from Jan. 30, 2023 through the signing of the stipulation, which was done by Jim Sullivan on behalf of Dollar General on Oct. 26, Dollar General legal counsel on Oct. 25, and Morrow, on behalf of Wisconsin DATCP, on Nov. 13.

Rep. Behnke Introduces Raw Milk Legislation

State Representative Elijah Behnke (R-Oconto) issued the following statement regarding legislation he authored with Senator Ducey Stroebel relating to the sale of unpasteurized dairy products:

"In Wisconsin, you can regularly buy and consume raw ground hamburger from Brazil, raw oysters from Washington, raw tuna from Japan, and raw romaine lettuce from California. Current Wisconsin law regarding unprocessed dairy, however, sends the message that we do not trust our dairy farmers to produce a sanitary, unprocessed product, and that we can't trust consumers to make an informed health decision about the dairy products they buy.

"Wisconsin dairy farmers have access to better safety testing technology than ever before, including rapid on-farm testing. Our farmers are acutely aware that producing a safe, healthy product is vital to the success of their farms. Many consumers prefer raw dairy for a variety of reasons including taste, nutrition, and health benefits.

"This bill provides farmers with the ability to sell unpasteurized dairy products through additional channels, accompanied by more robust guidelines and testing requirements compared to any previous proposal authorizing the sale of unpasteurized dairy products in Wisconsin. It is long past time we trust our farmers and consumers with the sale of unprocessed dairy in America's Dairyland."
